Message from the Principal, Lynn Harrell

This prospectus is intended to give you a glimpse of the exciting opportunities open to young musicians in the Junior Academy. The highest standards of teaching in individual and ensemble music skills are essential at an early age, and we see the work of the Junior Academy as a fundamental and integral part of the aims of the Royal Academy of Music. I hope that you will enjoy reading all about the course, and will feel free to contact us. Jonathan Willcocks, Director of the Junior Academy, will answer any questions you may have.

Junior Academy

The Royal Academy of Music, founded in 1822, is Britain's senior Conservatoire and one of the oldest institutions for advanced musical education in the world. It has always been at the forefront of development in the provision of music training, anticipating and responding to the changing demands of the musical world.

In 1935, the Junior Exhibitioners' scheme was launched to provide music tuition of high quality for children of school age. From these beginnings, the Junior Academy has developed to offer the option of a specialist music education for pupils who can continue to live at home and attend normal schools. Many travel considerable distances to study at the Junior Academy, and benefit not only from the high standards of individual tuition and ensemble coaching, but also from the stimulation of contact and music-making with other pupils of similar abilities and commitment. Although we do not presume that all pupils at the Junior Academy will wish to proceed to further education in music at a conservatoire or university, many do so and subsequently enter the music profession in a wide variety of areas of activity.

The mission of the Junior Academy is to provide the very highest quality of musical training to pupils between the ages of nine and nineteen who demonstrate the abilities and motivation to make the fullest use of the opportunity. All tuition and activities take place on Saturdays, when the Junior Academy has full use of the excellent facilities of the Royal Academy of Music in Marylebone Road. The Junior Academy is seen as a vital part of overall music training at the Royal Academy of Music, and an increasing number of instrumental professors teach in both Senior and Junior Academy.

Curriculum

The curriculum, which is flexible to the needs of each individual pupil, emphasises areas of musical training and music-making which we feel are of fundamental importance to all young musicians.

Principal Study and Second Study tuition are offered in:

Piano, Violin, Viola, Cello, Double Bass, Flute, Recorder, Oboe, Clarinet, Bassoon, Trumpet, Horn, Trombone, Tuba, Guitar, Voice, Free Bass Accordion, Percussion and Composition.

Additionally, Second Study tuition is available in Organ and Saxophone.

Principal Study individual tuition

This is the central pillar of the work of the Junior Academy, and lessons are one hour in duration. By arrangement, it is possible to extend the lesson further, when we feel that it would be advantageous to the pupil.

Supporting studies

All pupils are allocated to a supporting studies class. These sessions develop vital aural skills and musical literacy, concentrating on the use of the voice in aural work. The connection between the written score and musical sound and an understanding of musical style is developed by use of material from the full range of the repertoire.

Chamber music

We give priority to coached chamber music for all instrumentalists, as the benefit to the developing musician is considerable. Chamber music stresses the need to listen and react to fellow-musicians, and highlights the essential disciplines of ensemble playing.

Curriculum

Orchestra

The Symphony Orchestra rehearses and performs works from the standard orchestral repertoire, and offers concerto opportunities for outstanding instrumentalists. There is a strong emphasis on orchestral training, with sectional work regularly undertaken by tutors with wide professional orchestral experience. For less experienced players, the String Orchestras and Wind and Brass Ensembles allow attention to be focused on the differing technical needs and disciplines of these instrumental groupings.

Choir

There is a mixed SATB choir, and a Junior Chorus for younger girls and boys with unbroken voices. We encourage most pupils to sing in these choirs; besides being worthwhile and enjoyable musical activities, they form a valuable adjunct to the aural training programme.

Curriculum

Keyboard skills

Keyboard harmony, transposition and improvisation are taught in small groups with the needs of university and conservatoire degree courses in mind, using the Yamaha Digital Piano Laboratory.

Composition

With the development of composition in GCSE and A level music, many pupils seek help and encouragement in this area. There are weekly composition tutorials to which pupils bring composition work, and termly composition workshops at which pieces are performed and discussed.

Conducting

Tuition in the techniques of conducting, score preparation and interpretation is available in a class taken by Peter Stark, principal conductor of the Junior Academy Symphony Orchestra, in association with Colin Metters, Head of Conducting Studies at RAM. There are opportunities for student conductors to work with various Junior Academy ensembles.

Curriculum

Second study

Although we recognise that not all pupils will wish to learn a second instrument at the Junior Academy, many do so. Lessons can be of any length appropriate to the level of development of the pupil. Because it is not appropriate for all pupils at the Junior Academy, Second Study tuition is not included in the Junior Academy Course Fee and is available at an extra charge.

Masterclasses and workshops

We invite distinguished performers to visit the Junior Academy to work with groups of pupils. These sessions are arranged both with specific instruments as their focus, and to encounter various musical influences – such as jazz or twentieth-century techniques.

Performance

Controlled development of the art of performing is an essential part of any musical education. In addition to their individual lessons, all pupils have a termly Performance Class with their Principal Study teacher. Within the Junior Academy there are regular informal and formal opportunities for performance, including concerts in the Royal Academy of Music's refurbished Duke's Hall. Other performing opportunities include recitals given each year at the Purcell Room on the South Bank and St Martin-in-the-Fields.

Prizes

There are annual Prize competitions for each instrumental discipline, chamber music and composition, adjudicated by distinguished visiting musicians.

Assessment

Every pupil is expected to prepare for an annual assessment, at which instrumental progress can be reviewed, sight-reading and aural skills tested, and future plans discussed.

General information

Terms

There are three teaching terms per year, each of eleven weeks, corresponding with normal school terms. Ten Principal Study and Second Study lessons are given each term, other activities taking place on every Saturday during term.

Timetable

Lessons and other activities are timetabled on Saturdays from 9am, although flexibility is possible for pupils with lengthy journeys to undertake.

Fees

The fees for the Junior Academy are outlined on an enclosed sheet. Fees are payable at the beginning of each term. Awards are available from many Local Education Authorities for pupils attending schools within their area.

A full term of advance notice in writing is required for withdrawal of pupils, or fees are payable in lieu of such notice.

Scholarships and Bursaries

Scholarships and bursaries are available each year for outstanding ability, for designated instruments and in cases of financial need. The value of all awards is subject to means test.

The Junior Academy is very grateful to a number of recent donors and benefactors whose assistance has greatly facilitated the implementation of our plans: these benefactors include the Austin & Hope Charitable Trust, the Hervey Benham Charitable Trust, the Else & Leonard Cross Charitable Trust, the Leverhulme Trust, the Save and Prosper Educational Trust and the Wolfson Foundation.

Parents

We recognise the very valuable role that parents play in the success of the Junior Academy, particularly in the support and organisation of thorough daily practice schedules at home. We encourage contact between parents and individual teachers, and there is a thriving Parents' Committee. This Committee runs the Junior Academy canteen on Saturdays which provides not only a social focus for pupils but also an additional source of Bursary funds for those in financial need. The Friends of the Junior Academy provide an opportunity for participation in the work and development of the Junior Academy.

Open Day

The Junior Academy holds an Open Day on one Saturday each year, on which prospective pupils and their parents can visit the Academy. Details of the next Open Day are enclosed with this Prospectus.

Intermediate School

The Intermediate School offers a limited number of places for outstanding young instrumentalists aged between twelve and eighteen years. The scheme provides Principal Study individual tuition with Royal Academy of Music professors, together with additional practical study (including composition) and other supporting work if required. Intermediate students attend for a half-day on a weekday during Academy terms. The Frederick Grinke Scholarship is offered to an especially talented violinist.

Junior Organists' Course

offers tuition on the fine Royal Academy of Music organs for young keyboard players.

A First Musical Experience, First String Experience and Junior String Ensemble Experience offer initial training, based on the group methods of teaching pioneered in this country by Sheila Nelson, and string ensemble work for children aged 5-11.

Further details of the Intermediate and all other Junior Courses are available from the Junior Academy.

Entry procedure

Auditions

Entry is by audition in March, for admission the following September. In exceptional circumstances auditions can be arranged before or after this period.

Audition requirements

Applicants should prepare two contrasting pieces in their Principal study and one piece (if appropriate) for their Second study. Sight-reading and aural tests will be given and scales appropriate to the level of study may be asked. An accompanist will be available if required.

Entry standards

The Junior Academy is a specialist music provision, and entry is very competitive. We are looking primarily for musical potential, and the standard of playing of successful applicants will depend very much on such factors as age and length of study; but as a rough guide we would expect Associated Board grade 5 distinction level from our younger applicants. Exams need not have been taken.

Ages

Pupils are admitted from age nine upwards, and normally remain at the Junior Academy, subject to satisfactory progress, until they are eighteen or nineteen. We do not normally admit pupils for a period of less than two years of study.

Local Education Authority Awards

Awards are made to cover full or partial fees and travel expenses. Early application to your LEA Music Adviser is recommended. The LEA generally holds preliminary auditions before referring selected candidates to the Junior Academy for final auditions.

Fee-paying places

Application should be made direct to the Junior Academy on the enclosed Application form, noting the closing date. A non-returnable audition fee is payable.
